Road Not So Open
P.O. Statement
Picture Story

Some of the Hope fans attending the Razorback-Tulsa game last Saturday got to Little Rock by driving over Interstate 30 from Arkadelphia to Malvern — although that section isn't officially open. To which I'll add a postscript.

Oliver Mills was one of those who went through the barricade at Arkadelphia's Holiday Inn after someone else knocked it down. But on his return trip he drove into Malvern to visit friends, and heard some ominous news.

Just before the week-end, Oliver learned, 30 motorists were arrested and fined $21.30 apiece for trespassing on a closed highway. Police probably looked the other way when the football crowd headed for Little Rock Saturday, which figures — but you are warned that the road is being patrolled from time to time.

Today, as with newspapers all over America this week, The Star publishes its annual Post Office statement on ownership and circulation. Being a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations it's not such a tough job for this newspaper — the ABC figures were already available, merely requiring rearrangement for the government report.

Actually our airmailed Publisher's Statement to ABC as of Sept. 30 was in Chicago today before the government statement could be gotten into print in Hope.

Today's post office statement is a relatively new form. It was revised when the late Robert M. Wilson was local postmaster. Mr. Wilson and I were going over the first edition of the revised form when I objected that whoever got it up had managed to make it impossible to strike a balance. The postmaster asked why. I said, "Well, you start off with the newspaper's net press run — but your stated classifications don't add up to the total net press run. The government has left out 'Unaccounted For' copies."

Mr. Wilson was himself a sharp man with a pencil, but former Alabama governor. P. unfamiliar with actual publishing practices. As I told him: Every 50,000, press run on earth has "Unaccounted For" copies — printed that the crowd numbered only 50,000.

"I saw acres and acres of people out there. That's how we measure in Alabama," he joked. Asked his estimate of the both friendly and hostile crowd, Wallace said without a blink or a smile, "Two million."

During the question-and-answer session with newsmen, Wallace was asked why he hadn't challenged Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon to a debate.

"If it will help this press conference to be a success," he smiled, "all right, I challenge you."

Over 100 persons paid $10 a plate at a fund raising dinner for Presidential Candidate George Wallace last night at Perry's Restaurant at Perrytown. The American Party of Hempstead actually raised $1,053. The new party is directed by Perry Campbell and Earl Martin. Some 3,800 persons signed petitions to get Wallace's name on the ballot.

Speaker for the occasion was Col. John Norman Warnack, Rel., of Camden who discussed communistic influence on present Washington leaders.

FBI Reports Leftist Movement Now Major Security Problem

By MALCOLMBARR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI said today it has more than kept up with the nation's rising crime rate, but added that the New Left movement "has mushroomed into a major security problem."

Its annual report, the federal crime agency said, the fiscal year that ended last June 30 was a period of "harsh, unremitting challenge for law enforcement."

But, the FBI said, it measured gains in several major areas of crime fighting, including a 19 per cent increase in its arrest rate over the previous year.

The 1968 figures were 18,881 apprehensions, compared with 15,878 the year before.

Another gain was claimed in convictions. The figures were 13,059 persons convicted in 1968, against 13,032 in fiscal 1967. The report stated that 97 per cent of those arrested were convicted.

The report came with "Law and Order" a major issue in the presidential campaign.

Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon claims that crime is running wild and enforcement and court procedures haven't been able to keep up.

Parents of Lockesburg GI Killed in Vietnam Had a Premonition

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Sgt. Robert B. Puttell, 20-year-old soldier son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. (Kyle) Puttell, of Route 2, Lockesburg, Ark., who was killed in action in Vietnam on Aug. 19, had a premonition of his death but did not feel that he was giving his life in vain.

His parents have received a letter he wrote prior to his death in which he urged them to let his baby brother take his place in the family.

The text of his letter follows:

Dear Mom and Dad: I hope you will never receive this letter but somehow I feel as though you will. I am writing this now in case I do die in this country.

I want you to know what I do not feel like I have died in vain.

I believe in what I am doing and only hope the Good Lord agrees with me. There is a reason for this war and I hope you understand it as I do. If some of us can give our lives to help defeat the forces that try to make slaves of human beings, then I am more than ready to give mine.

I know it is a great sense of loss you feel now, but just think of little Kelly (his baby brother) and in a way he is taking my place. Also he may not have to go off to a strange land and fight a war if I can help stop Communism now.

I also want to say that I had a very full and good life while I was at home. Nobody could have asked for better parents or a happier home. I have always appreciated what you two did for me.

Like I told you in letters before, I want you to use the insurance money to pay for the new house. Knowing that you will have that nice home all paid for is about the nicest thing I can think of right now.

I wish I could see you all now, but I know that I will when you join me here in heaven so I will just wait until then.

Well I guess I had better sign off for the last time, Bye and God bless every one of you. I'll see you again some day.

All of my love.
Bobby.

Petitions Checked, Found Valid

Rev. Gordon Renshaw, president of the Hempstead County Christian Civic Foundation, said today he did not think his organization would contest in court the validity of the local option petitions filed recently. The petitions seek a vote at the November 5 general election on the question of the legal manufacture and sale of liquor in Hempstead County. Mr. Renshaw said that the Christian Civic Foundation would instead vigorously oppose the measure in the election, and seek its defeat at the polls.

Mrs. Pat McCain, Hempstead County Clerk, on September 6, 1968, certified the petitions as sufficient but by a margin of only 30 names. The clerk's count showed 1350 valid signatures on the petitions with a minimum of 1320 required,

The Christian Civic Foundation, which is a "dry" organization, employed counsel and had the signatures re-checked. It was claimed that some of the signatures were doubtful and involved a matter of judgment as to whether they were valid or invalid. Mr. Renshaw said that the purpose of the re-check was to determine which of the doubtful signatures, in the opinion of counsel, would likely be sustained in court if questioned there, and which would not, and how many there were of each type.

Mr. Renshaw said today that counsel for the foundation was of the opinion that out of the 1507 total signatures, 166 were definitely invalid, but that 1341 were either definitely good or would probably stand up in court if questioned. That left a margin of 21 in favor of the sufficiency of the petitions. Even though several close questions were involved, Mr. Renshaw said that counsel for the foundation did not recommend litigation over the doubtful names.

DETROIT (AP) — The American congressional leaders, in a statement relayed by Richard M. Nixon, said today that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's qualified support of a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is politically motivated and should be disregarded.

The Republican presidential nominated himself withheld comment on Humphrey's pronouncement until later today, but indicated he was not about to temper his opposition to a bombing halt without some reciprocal move by the Communists.

Nixon talked by telephone with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and then issued in their behalf this response to Humphrey:

"We conclude that his 'new' policies have only a partisan motivation and purpose and should be so regarded and therefore disregarded."

Humphrey, in a nationally televised speech Monday night said that as president he would stop the bombing as an "acceptable secret ballot."

He added these qualifying words:

"In weighing that risk—and before taking action—I would place key importance on evidence—direct or indirect—by word or deed—of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam."

Tax Take in Arkansas Up $4 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — General revenue collections in Arkansas have increased more than $4 million during the first three months of the fiscal year compared to the same period in 1967.

The state Revenue Department reported collections of $48.5 million this year compared to $44 million last year. The sales tax was up more than $1 million in September, from $7,048,257 to $8,079,073, compared to September 1967. Total general revenue collections for the month were $16,589,597 — an increase of more than $1.5 million.

Individual income tax withholding and the cigarette tax showed increases while corporate income taxes and liquor tax collections tailed off.

Crime Way in Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Law enforcement, says Baltimore State's Atty. Charles E. Moylan Jr., is "overextended to the point of collapse."

"But murders, rapes, robberies and burglaries have very little to do with the crisis," Moylan said in a 45-page annual report.

Moylan listed other crime waves as commercial frauds, traffic violations, evasions of city and state taxes, juvenile violations, non-support offenses, commercialized vice and crimes related to alcohol which raises the question of whether alcoholics can be guilty of crime.

"Almost blindly," Moylan said, "we are approaching 21st century problems of industrialized, swarming urban complexes with 17th century institutions that were shaped to meet the needs of an English countryside."

Humphrey said of his Democratic rival for the White House, "I don't want to say anything until I have read the full text of his remarks."

A reporter asked Nixon whether he had altered his own position on the issue.

"No," Nixon said.

When the bombing issue was raised last Friday in Louisville, Ky., Nixon aides reissued an April 1 pronouncement by their candidate:

"In my judgment, a bombing half by itself would not be a step toward peace. But, if the United States has finally received assurances that it would be reciprocated, then further steps toward peace may become possible."

Humphrey said that as president he would stop the bombing "as an acceptable risk for peace."

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was a fifth cousin of President Theodore Roosevelt.

Dockworkers Strike, T-H Law Invoked

By BOB MONROE

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The longshoremen's union struck Atlantic and Gulf ports at 12:01 a.m. today but President Johnson had already moved to cut short the walkout under the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The strike by 75,000 dockworkers was ordered by the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association after its negotiations with the shippers' association broke down Monday afternoon.

Hours later President Johnson invoked the Taft-Hartley Act, setting up a three-man board of inquiry to hold hearings today and take action by Wednesday that could lead to an 80-day cooling off period.

The White House action came with approximately 160 ships immediately threatened by the tieup of ports from Sparrows Point, Md., to Brownsville, Tex. Union president Thomas W. Gleason said military cargo would continue to move.

Gleason said he expects an 80-day injunction later in the week. He added, "We will oppose it," and said the strike would proceed until the government obtains the injunction.

Seven times in the past 21 years the government has used the Taft-Hartley act to return the longshoremen to work for the 80-day cooling off periods.

The dispute between the union and the ports involves wages, pensions and other fringe benefits, a guarantee of 2,080 hours of work per year that the ILA is seeking.

The White House announcement said:

"In terms of impact of a strike, government economists estimate that the strike would cost about $70 million a day in terms of imports and exports, that wage losses for longshoremen and seamen would be about $2 million a day."

"The strike would have some severe implications for our balance of payments," the statement said.

Gleason said Monday, "We'll come back at the end of 80 days and be in the same situation. We don't cool off very fast."

He blamed the impasse on a split between container shippers and conventional cargo shippers. The union is demanding increased security in the face of increasing automation by container shipping.

"I blame the stiff in the industry who invested $250 million in containers and can't make an agreement," Gleason said.

Alfred A. Giardino, counsel to the New York Shipping Association, and its chief negotiator, disagreed, saying abuses of the guaranteed annual income system now in effect in some ports, had led to the breakdown.

He contended that some dock workers now get a full year's pay without performing a single day's work by taking advantage of loopholes in the contract.

Giardino said the shippers were willing to guarantee more hours of pay — perhaps increasing the current 1,600 annual minimum in New York to 2,080 — if the dockworkers would accept work wherever assigned in New York or New Jersey.

Under the four-year contract which expired at midnight, longshoremen earned $3.62 an hour. Duration of the new contract was also a point at issue.

Giardino said the industry had offered a 63-cent package increase over two years that would have raised wages to $4 an hour in the second year.

The New York shipping group, although a local body, sets the basic contract pattern for other ports on five major points: wages, contract length, hours, contributions to pension funds and contributions to welfare funds.

Fund Collector for Wallace in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A member of the campaign staff of third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace has been stationed at Little Rock to collect the "fund-raising petitions" distributed last month when Wallace spoke here.

Morris Beck of Fort Payne, Ala., said about 300 of the petitions were handed out during a rally Sept. 11.

The petitions, each of which contains space for 85 contributors, were to be circulated by the persons who received them. Campaign contributions were to be solicited from each person who signed the petitions.

HUAC Probe Produces Antiwar Protestors of Long Standing

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police hustled peace protester Jerry Rubin, wearing a bandoleer ribbed with live bullets, out of a congressional office building to day after he tried to enter a hearing on Chicago's bloody anti-war demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention.

Rubin, a major participant in the confrontation between protesters and Chicago police, was among witnesses subpoenaed to testify as the House Committee on Un-American Activities began an investigation of the disorders.

Rubin, who had not been called to testify until Thursday, led a straggly band of demonstrators to the committee door. He marched bearded, barefoot and barechested, carrying a toy M16 rifle, wearing a pistol belt and presenting a resplendent display of war paint and multicolored peace symbols daubed on his body.

Capitol police guarding the hearing chambers halted Rubin at the door and ordered him to strip off the belt of bullets which he was wearing on his chest along with his love beads.

Two policemen grasped him by the biceps where Rubin had red and orange anti-war symbols painted, marched him down two stories of marble stairs and escorted him out of the House Office Building.

There was no attempt by other demonstrators to interfere with the police action.

Police said Rubin would be barred until he shed his ammunition. The guards also confiscated a black bull whip from another protest leader, Abbie Hoffman.

Rubin, Hoffman and four other leaders of peace protests, including David Dellinger, told a news conference before the hearings that they are asking for a federal court injunction to forbid issuance of any citations for contempt of Congress against them during the hearings.

They said there would be a rally on the Capitol Mall on Thursday, the day the protest leaders have been summoned to testify.

Rubin and Hoffman are leaders of the Youth International Party, known as Yippies. Dellinger led the peace march on the Pentagon a year ago. The others joining in the court suit were Rennie Davis, Thomas E. Hayden and Robert Greenblatt.

Rubin, who appeared at a HUAC hearing two years ago wearing an American Revolutionary War uniform, said he was dressed for this week's investigation in "the guerrilla outfit of the future."

Asked where he got the brass-jacketed rifle bullets that studded the bandoleer, Rubin cracked, "I got them off an American soldier."

Last week, Rubin and Hayden, founder of the Students for a Democratic Society, which has campaigned for abolition of the HUAC, turned their committee subpoenas on the University of California's Berkeley campus.

Both, however, have said they would appear and there have been several reports that groups

Davis' Aide Fined in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Municipal Judge Earl Mazandar rejected a contention Monday that a 1957 act nullifies a Hot Springs ordinance and fined George Ray Hozendorf $60 and costs on charges of operating a sound truck and failure to display a state license on a motor vehicle.

Hozendorf, 24, a campaign aide of Lynn Davis, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State, was arrested Friday. Police said they had received numerous complaints about the sound truck.

Davis had contended that Act 276 of 1957 made Hozendorf's arrest illegal. The law authorizes qualified candidates to operate sound equipment in "any city, town, municipality or rural community in Arkansas . . . between the hours of 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. . . ."

Mazandar said the court interpreted the act to mean that the sound equipment must be operated by "the candidate himself."

Hozendorf pleaded innocent to both charges. He contended that a temporary license tag on the vehicle had fallen from a window.

Patrolman Sam Mann, who arrested Hozendorf, testified that Hozendorf produced a temporary license tag at the police station. He said, however, that the vehicle bore no state license.

My opponent has been in the State House since 1936. Thirty-three years is far too long. My opponent refused to open her records in a classic case of machine domination. It took an order from the Supreme Court for the records to be opened. If she had a real concern about properly handling state funds, why did she vote twice against increasing the interest rate on idle state funds deposited in favored banks around the state?

I promise that the state Treasurer's books will be open at all times and the state funds will earn the revenue to which it is entitled. Who says the people don't care about what is done with their money?

Demonstrations are not new. Twenty one years ago a group of women held a protest demonstration against Christian Dior right in the lobby of the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago.

Dear Dior . . . he launched the "New Look" (and that was before looks were looks and nobody was far out to be in) and dropped the hemline to nine inches from the floor. An organization of women called . . . "Little Below The Knee Club", 1000 strong, mad as wet hens, wearing protest posters, greeted him as he stopped in Chicago to attend a meeting of The Fashion Group. They shouted "Go Home Dior" but because his English was so limited and his charm so great, he captivated the whole bunch of them. The protesters faded away (probably went home to let out hem) and the club was never heard of again.

Once again the pendulum has swung about as far as it can go and we are reaching a mid-knee halt for this fall, winter and spring. Don't ask us what will happen later but right now . . . if you want that smart, new, young look and feeling, slip into a jersey-bonded simple frock with a belt that hugs your waistline. The skirt has a slight A-line and you will look completely uncluttered and slimmer . . .

A coat that fits in the shoulders, flares slightly, under it is a belted dress to match. Malvern Next Here for Bobcats

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sportswriter

With some of the key injuries healing back and others well on the way, the Hope Bobcats began full-scale preparations for the Malvern Leopards on Friday night yesterday afternoon. Unfortunately, the "B" game cancellation with Stamps was not verified until past our deadline, but the Stamps coaches only have 17 boys playing football with several others hurt. However, the cancellation allowed the HHS coaches to begin working with the full squad a day earlier.

This is the first game in 4-AA West competition for the Bobcats, and Malvern has a 1-0 record with a 31-0 stomping of Texarkana Washington two weeks ago. Hope plays Washington next Saturday night in Texarkana's Buhrman Field.

Of course, playing those Malvern Leopards means facing David Alpe's bifocal offense, which really confused people in its earlier days. Most people have gotten used to the setup by now, though, and it was the Leopards' strong passing attack that carried them to a 27-0 trouncing of the Bobcats last year.

And up in Malvern, they don't figure that Hope will be much to tangle with. If the Bobcats play the game the way it is supposed to be played, though, the Leopards will have to pull up their pants and fight to win. To be sure it will take Hope's best effort of the season Friday night, because Malvern is one of the real dark-horse powers in the entire state.

When the talented Leopards come on the field in Hammons Stadium Friday night, they will look more impressive than any other Bobcat opponent. Their big worry, aside from the will from the pinpoint passing to fast they're not feeling sorry for receivers by quarterback Mac themselves. These junior high players are a real dedicated bunch, one Cornell Williams, a 9-6 and you can wager that they will sprinter with even a football give it all they've got.

Boston's Mother Going to Olympics

LAUREL, Miss. (AP) — The widowed mother of Olympic broad jump champion Ralph Boston will be with him when he competes in the Olympics in Mexico City, thanks to a group of merchants.

Mrs. Eudie L. Boston, 71, will fly from Laurel to Mexico City to be on hand for the opening ceremonies Oct. 12.

"I had been hoping there would be a way for me to go," she said, "and when I was notified the fund with which to send me had been raised, I was so thrilled I was like a little child. I was too happy to sleep much that night."

The big challenge this week is to the team's ability to come back from a highly unnecessary loss to Smackover with an inspired performance against Malvern. They did it to DeQueen after tying Prentiss 0-0, but this is the most important game on the Bobcats' schedule so far this season.

Having a 1-2-1 record is nothing to boast about, but it is also not an excuse to lose the rest of the games. This is the point of Hope coaches as they ready the squad, because for three years the Bobcats have finished their last eight games in the unimpressive record of 4-19-1, and this trend must be reversed.

Strikers May Endanger the Olympics

By STRATFORD C. JONES

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Striking students moved back into the University of Mexico Monday night after the army moved out and they vowed to continue a campaign against the government for reforms.

A call for support from students abroad to help in a fight against "30 years of political demagoguery and corruption of the Mexican government" raised anew the possibility that Mexico's student strife could interfere with the 1968 Olympics which open here Oct. 12.

It was a fear that students would upset the Olympics that brought about the army's occupation of the university Sept. 18.

Opening ceremonies for the Olympics are scheduled for Olympic Stadium across the way from the university campus.

Eight hours after the 1,300 army troops started their withdrawal from the campus, the students' Strike Council met and drew up a statement saying they would stick to their original demands for settlement of their strike.

"Here in Mexico we plan to keep opposing army violence and police clubs," one council member said.

The students' demands include firing of top police officials, the banding of the riot police force called Granaderos, repeal of subversion laws and indemnity payments for those injured or killed in the rioting that began July 26.

One of the speakers at the council meeting denied that students plotted against the Olympic Games.

Government spokesmen have said that troops were sent onto the campus, violating 40 years of autonomy, because a plot had come to light to seize the Olympic Stadium.

The student spokesman said that the strike committee, however, did consider it more urgent that "the problems of the Mexican people should be solved before fulfillment of any obligations the Mexican government has assumed in playing host to the Olympic Games."

Many of the students were lapel buttons bearing the portrait of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung.

Now 2-1 on the year, the Bobcats, both on offense and defense, kittens must rebound from the disappointments of losing the possibility of an undefeated season and their backs are big and tough.

The Bobcats' big worry, aside from the will from the pinpoint passing to fast they're not feeling sorry for receivers by quarterback Mac themselves. These junior high players are a real dedicated bunch, one Cornell Williams, a 9-6 and you can wager that they will sprinter with even a football give it all they've got.

Once again this week the key son, and they should win if to victory for the Bobcats will they're not feeling sorry for themselves. These junior high players practice with a severely bruised ankle suffered against Smackover, should be ready Friday night. And Mickey Allen returns back to the lineup this week after missing all of last week with a bad knee.

The Cardinals, winning their second consecutive National League pennant, dropped 89,661 from their 1967 total attendance. The Tigers were up 586,663 over their 1967 figures.

Over-all, attendance was up in the American League and down in the National. The National League attracted 11,785,368 compared to 12,927,185 last year. The Americans were up to 11,172,942 in 1968 after drawing 10,883,915 a year ago.

"I'd like to use the quote Leo Durocher uses," Griffith said Monday at a news conference in which he said Ermer, 44, will not be back for the 1969 baseball season.

"Nice guys end last," he said, "but you can still be a nice guy but be firm."

The Twins slumped to a seventh-place finish this season after losing the American League pennant by one game in 1967. The 1968 Twins were 24 games behind the champion Detroit Tigers with a 79-83 won-lost record.

"It's become quite apparent to me that Ermer has lacked a firm control over the ballclub," said Griffith, "therefore, I've decided that a change of leadership would be beneficial to the club."

Griffith had no announcement about Ermer's successor, saying he wanted to talk to two or three persons, including former Twins' coach Billy Martin—the most prominently mentioned.

"Baseball is known as a hard game," said Martin, the former New York Yankee infielder who played in the World Series five times. "Managers get fired and hired, we have no comment about the Ermer firing. He is a personal friend."

Martin, 40, who is considered a hard-nosed baseball man, managed the Twins' Denver team in the Pacific Coast League in 1968. When he took the job, Denver was in last place and he managed them to a fourth-place finish in a six team division.

Griffith said he will make up his mind about a new manager before the Oct. 15 baseball expansion meeting.

Gibson and McLain to Open Series

By MURRY CHASS
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Denny McLain, with 31 victories, is the American League's biggest winner in 37 years. Bob Gibson, with an earned run average of 1.12 is the National League's stingiest pitcher ever.

They'll face each other Wednesday when Detroit takes on St. Louis in the first game of the World Series, but Mayo Smith isn't impressed.

Righthander. Overpowering fast ball pitcher. Seems he can get any hitter out any time he wants to. Also has hard slider and curve, but uses them sparingly. Has superior control. Has had much World Series experience. Has 5-1 record in two Series, two wins '64 and three in '67. MVP in each.

"You put two good pitchers against each other, and everybody builds them up as the biggest thing since gangbusters," said Smith, who managed the Tigers to 103 victories this year.

"Then the whole thing ends up disappointing. All pitching duels do. Often one of the pitchers gets bombed out."

In two series, however, Gibson has yet to be bombed out. In fact he hasn't even been out of a series game he's started since Oct. 8, 1964 the first time he pitched.

Since losing that encounter with the New York Yankees, the right-hander has posted five straight victories—two over the Yankees and three over the Boston Red Sox last year.

And in those five games, the 31-year-old fireballer allowed an average of only six hits and less than two runs a game.

A victory over the Tigers Wednesday would vault Gibson into a tie for the most consecutive games won in a series, a mark shared by Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing, both of the New York Yankees.

Umpires of both leagues met in Chicago Monday and voted to form a joint association. If Salerno and Valentine are not reinstated, the new group is expected to strike next spring.

Cronin, reached in Boston, said he had no comment until he received a formal statement.

Word was that the umpires wanted to strike the World Series but Jack Reynolds, a Chicago attorney who helped organize the National League umpires, talked them out of it.

In addition, both Salerno and Valentine issued a joint statement saying, "we do not wish to deprive the American people and baseball fans of their annual classic due to the wrongful conduct of one man."

McLain will be facing the same Cardinal line-up that won the National League pennant by nine games.

The three outfielders — Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Roger Maris — will come first, followed by first baseman Orlando Cepeda, catcher Tim McCarver, third baseman Mike Shannon, second baseman Julian Javier and shortstop Dal Maxvill.

For Gibson, the Tigers will have a slightly revised line-up. The revision revolves around the insertion of Mickey Stanley at shortstop. Smith wanted to get Al Kaline into the line-up, and the only way he could do it was by bringing Stanley in from center field.

Kaline, long the leading slugger of the Tigers, broke his right arm early in the season, and by the time he was ready to return, the Tigers were going so well Smith didn't want to disturb the combination.

Now Smith wants the veteran's bat to help spice up the offense. A gesture to get Al Kaline in the line-up," Smith said. "We're out to win this thing and by putting an extra bat in we think we can do it."

Smith will have second baseman Dick McAuliffe leading off, followed by Stanley and right fielder Kaline, then first baseman Norm Cash, left fielder Willie Horton, center fielder Jim Northrup, catcher Bill Freehan and third baseman Don Wert.

Many of the Cardinals will be playing in their third Series. If they have any advantage, Smith feels that's it—but not for long.

"The biggest edge will be in the first two or three innings," he said. "There is where they will have the edge on us. Our guys will go in there with stars in their eyes."

Safety was the topic of the Arkansas Association of Liquefied Petroleum Gas Dealers Wednesday. Twenty-two servicemen from Hope, Prescott, Nashville, Lewisville and Texarkana attended. Meetings on controls, regulators, safety standards and procedures in the morning session. Tol-E-Tex and Butane Gas Company were the local dealers attending. The afternoon session was held at Red River Vocational - Technical School meeting with R. L. Reighart, Regional Engineer, Technical Service Department Champion Spark Plug Company, Toledo, Ohio. Fields of ignition and fuel effects on spark plugs were covered. A special thermocouple spark plug recording tip temperatures during various engine adjustments was used to demonstrate the effects. The twenty-nine mechanics students of Red River Vocational - Technical School and instructors, J. L. Walters, Jr., and Ralph Odiorne were present also.

Ft. George and old Ft. Niagara, 12 miles north of Niagara Falls, have been restored to look as they did in the 18th century.

Putting-you-firsts:

(A quick tour of some of the thoughtful new features the 1969 Chevrolets offer that other cars in Chevrolet's field don't.)

Headlight washers

You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and your headlights come clean.

Fluid is diverted to two jet nozzles at each light lens. (Outer lights only on duals.)

The spray removes up to 80% of accumulated dirt.

The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes. It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice and Kingswood Estate Wagons. It is available on all other models except Corvair.

Heated glass

In a moment your rear window self-defrost.

Because we've built onto it a network of tiny ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.

Fog and frost disappear quickly and quietly. You just flick a switch.

The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupé and Impala Custom Coupé.

Pushbutton tire chains

You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of "liquid tire chain."

You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.

Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock

When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances.

When you leave it, you lock it.

Not just the doors.

You lock the ignition, steering wheel and transmission lever, too.

Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.

Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.

Sorry, car thieves.

Power steering plus

The 1969 Caprice, Impala and Camaro are available with a new type of power steering.

Variable-ratio power steering.

What it does is give you faster steering with fewer turns of the wheel.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Kickback Charge Forces Navy to Back Off

By JEAN HELLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has quietly backed off its position that all its 2,75 inch rocket launcher contracts must go to a St. Louis firm which is under federal indictment charging kickbacks on past contracts for the equipment.

The Navy had maintained that Techfab Division of Alsco Inc., of St. Louis, had to get all the contracts because the launchers were "proprietary" and the time required to develop new suppliers would be "completely prohibitive."

The Navy awarded a $13.9 million contract for the launchers to Techfab while its parent company was under Grand Jury investigation this summer and the Pentagon refused to void the contract when the indictment against Alsco was returned in August.

But now, in a one-paragraph announcement in a Commerce Department journal, the Naval Air Systems Command has disclosed that it will seek competitive bids this week from prospective new suppliers of 81,500 launchers.

A Navy spokesman acknowledged that the Air Systems Command is seeking new suppliers for the rocket launchers, used by both the Navy and the Air Force, but would not discuss details.

Because the rocket launchers already in use or in production are a proprietary item—that is, the plans and specifications are owned by Alsco-Techfab, not by the government—the Navy made clear in its bid announcement that companies seeking the new contracts would have to create their own designs and build test models.

When a House appropriations subcommittee asked the Navy earlier this year to list contracts it awards on a sole-source basis, without competition, the Navy listed the rocket launcher contracts and explained them this way:

"The time which would be required to develop a similar Navy-owned item and to get a new manufacturer into production is completely prohibitive."

The Navy spokesmen would not explain this week why they now are seeking new suppliers, why they now have time to go through the new development process or what the Navy and Air Force will do for rocket launchers in the interim.

Last July 23, The Associated Press revealed that the Navy had awarded the $13.9 million contract to Alsco's Techfab Division while the firm's previous contracts were still being investigated.

On Aug. 7, the grand jury returned an indictment charging that on more than $47 million in contracts, Alsco and five other defendants had channeled $4 million into Swiss banks "well knowing that their interest in accounts in Swiss banks could and would be disguised and concealed" by co-conspirators.

Also named in the indictment were Chromcraft Corp. which merged with Alsco in 1966; Andrew L. Stone, principal stockholder, chief executive officer and a director of Chromcraft; Francis N. Rosenbaum, the firm's counsel in Washington and a director; Evelyn R. Price, Sonte's executive secretary, and Robert B. Bregman Electronics Inc., of New York City.

Chromcraft, and later Techfab, have been the Pentagon's sole supplier of the rocket launchers since 1962.

Fired Official Makes Charges of His Own

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Clint Jones, the former state securities commissioner, responded Monday to charges by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and made a few charges of his own.

Jones was fired by Rockefeller May 12, 1967. The governor said last week that Jones "should have kept closer surveillance on the operation of Arkansas Loan and Thrift Co. of Van Buren" from the start and have at least warned the legislature and others and thereby given some protection to the innocent Arkansas people who invested in the Arkansas Loan and Thrift."

If Mr. Rockefeller wants to talk about loan companies, why not talk about Peoples Loan and Investment which I understand is in the process of bankruptcy proceedings," Jones asked.

Jones said John Haley of Little Rock, the governor's appointee to the state Board of Correction, had been the attorney for the borrower and lender in a $1.6 million transaction between Peoples Loan and Investment Co. of Fort Smith and an unnamed out-of-state corporation.

"I don't know about it being improper," Jones said, "but I do know Mr. Haley got a nice fee."

Jones also said he did not think the Securities Department had authority to file suit against loan companies such as Arkansas Loan and Thrift.

U.S. District Court Judge John Miller declared AL&T insolvent Sept. 10.

Marion Burton, an aide to the governor, said Haley had submitted a memorandum about PL&I after Democratic gubernatorial nominee Marion Crank said last week that Rockefeller's "folks" were associated with another loan company at Fort Smith."

Rockefeller has attempted to link persons connected with AL&T to Crank.

Haley said in the memorandum that he had received "nominal fees" for two transactions he worked on while representing PL&I for about one year.

PL&I was placed in receivership by the state Bank Department, but Haley said the A&L situation had caused a run on the firm. He said no one in the Rockefeller administration had stock now or in the past in PL&I.

Jones also said he had a letter from the governor dated Dec. 21, 1966, in which Rockefeller assured him that neither he or one of his staff members would confer with Jones before

Reuther Is Charged by Rival Union

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Machinist union said today that an attempt by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther to raid other unions was "a stab in the back" that could plunge the nation's labor movement into "the law of the jungle."

P. L. "Roy" Siemiller, Machinist president, said in an interview that Reuther's unsuccessful attempt to get a 22,000 member local in Houston to drop out of the Machinists was part of an effort to build a rival federation to the AFL-CIO, headed by George Meany.

Now, said Siemiller, the Auto Workers are supporting a independent union backed by the Teamsters Union in a run-off election against the AFL-CIO Machinists among McManell Douglas Corp. workers at St. Louis.

The Teamsters, Auto Workers and Machinists are the nation's three largest unions.

Siemiller charged that Reuther's tactics involve joining with the Teamsters to challenge the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO for leadership of the nation's labor movement.

The UAW quit the AFL-CIO several months ago after being suspended for refusing to pay dues.

The Auto Workers, then formed the Alliance for Labor Action with the Teamster, who were kicked out of the AFL-CIO 11 years ago on corruption charges.

Walter Reuther is now embarked on a new campaign to build a labor movement of his own by raiding and splitting up established bargaining units," Siemiller said in a letter to all AFL-CIO union leaders.

Siemiller charged in the interview that Reuther's split with the AFL-CIO and his subsequent tactics of breaking no-raiding agreements stemmed from his frustration in wanting to succeed Meany as the major figure in American labor.

"He realized that if something happened to Meany, the purple mantle wouldn't fall around his shoulders," Siemiller said of Reuther.

Siemiller said the Auto Workers had also attempted to raid other unions, and added that the situation opened the way for the Machinists to retaliate by taking in dissident Auto Workers.

Siemiller released copies of taking action on securities commission position.

Jones also said he had been told by Bill Darby of Little Rock that Rockefeller promised to retain him as commissioner.

"Do you suppose he (Rockefeller) did not remember writing the letter to me or telling Mr. Darby he would retain me because of his regular bending of the elbow," Jones said.

"I'm referring to his drinking," Jones said when asked to clarify the remark.

"The only criticism of me as securities commissioner that I ever knew of from the Rockefeller administration was by one of his appointees, who is his pride and joy, remarked 'Clint is not qualified as securities commissioner because he is not an attorney,' Jones said.

Don Smith, the current securities commissioner, is an attorney.

Jones said that the Securities Department paid out more than $2,600 to attorneys for legal assistance during Smith's first 15 days in office.

"He must think one of his duties is spending all the money, and he does," Jones said.

Agnew Urges Removal of Ramsey Clark

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew has urged the removal of Ramsey Clark as U.S. attorney general and has proposed a five-point program to combat crime.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate told 1,500 to 2,500 persons at a rally in downtown

Toledo Monday that Clark's solution to crime in the streets apparently "is to widen the side-walks."

The Maryland governor then said, "we must replace Mr. Clark, with a new attorney general—a man dedicated to providing the tools that will penetrate the multibillion dollar conspiracy of organized crime."

Agnew said the federal government would launch a five-point program to combat crime if Richard M. Nixon is elected president. Major points of the war on crime would be:

— Wider use of wire tapping to break nationwide crime syndicates;

— A crackdown on narcotics violators;

— Emphasis on making the District of Columbia a model, crime-free city.

Mandatory prison sentences for persons convicted of committing a crime involving use of a gun.

— Provision of a higher standard of moral leadership in the federal government.

Agnew endorsed federal gun control legislation to disarm criminals and those with records of mental disorders, but termed the blanket registration of hand guns and rifles "an exercise of futility."

Reds Warned Against Side Talks

By ENDRE MARTON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States told the Soviet Union it should take any Middle East peace solutions to the U.N. General Assembly, and not seek bilateral "side pocket" talks.

This, officials say, is the gist of a U.S. reply to a four-point plan proposed to this country by Moscow two weeks ago for ending the state of war between Israel and the Arab nations.

The United States called for revitalization of the effort to find a solution though Swedish diplomat Gunnar Jarring, who was appointed by U.N. Secretary General U Thant more than a year ago to mediate the dispute.

A high-ranking U.S. official said Monday no "side pocket" talks between the United States and Soviet Union should confuse the issue.

U.S. officials believe the Jarriing mission, which has made little headway, could bring results at the United Nations unless

Tuesday, October 1, 1968
nor total peace in the Middle East.

In Egypt, which remains the key Arab country, there is great unrest under the surface which could change that nation's stance—although no one could predict what kind.

This unrest did not reach proportions as yet which could change the current regime, but the fact is that President Gamal Abdel Nasser has lost considerable power.

Nasser himself is a sick man. He has severe diabetes. And though he is still the leader in the Arab world, there is increasing belief that he and his country would go bankrupt without extensive Soviet aid and major financial support from oil-rich Arab nations.

Although the U.S. administration is alarmed by the great number of Soviet military advisers in Egypt—the estimate is around 3,000—the assessment still is that it will take years to reorganize Egypt's army.

This assessment explains why the administration believes there is no urgency to comply with the Israeli request to sell that country Phantom aircraft, the supersonic fighter bomber the Israelis claim they need desperately.

300 Reservists Called Draft Dodgers, Copouts Believe in ActionBy SYD COURSON
Associated Press Writer

FT. Lee, Va. (AP) — To some of their barracks mates they are draft dodgers and copouts, but 300 Army reservists who have challenged their call-up look on themselves as loyal Americans with a legitimate gripe.

"We're not draft dodgers. We're here, aren't we? If we wanted to avoid service we could have run off to Canada. But we didn't," said Richard Kronenberg, 26, one of the reservists who challenged in federal court the Army's right to call them to active duty.

The New York City resident made the remark in a wood-frame mess hall, as five of his buddies sat around the table where they'd just finished their lunch.

Cigarettes were lighted as Kronenberg said, "None of us is trying to get out of any responsibility. All we want is our day in court. If we lose, we'll go to Vietnam."

"And people are calling us Communists for going through the courts as any citizen can do."

Kronenberg and the other five at the table were among the 10 men of the 448th Postal Unit who joined men of other units in filing suit against the Army.

The 448th normally is headquartered in Garden City, Long Island, just outside New York. The unit was called up May 13 by presidential order for two years active duty.

The reservists contend their contract with the Army says they can't be called up unless Congress declares war or the President declares a national emergency.

Joe Don Looney, a former pro football player, came into the mess hall and sat down to make his gripe known.

Pfc. Looney and seven other enlisted men from the 173rd Petroleum Unit also have appealed their status to the Supreme Court.

Six of the eight were shipped out of Ft. Lee and were en route to Southeast Asia Saturday before their attorneys obtained a stay in their shipping orders from Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. The Army flew them back to Ft. Lee.

The two who didn't ship out with the others included one who was detained on an "unrelated personnel matter"—and Looney, who already was in difficulty for being absent without leave.

Looney is from Diana, Tex., but as a reserve was attached to the 472nd Ambulance Unit at Rockville, Md. when activated. He was reassigned to the 173rd—a basically all-Mississippi outfit from Greenwood—when he got to Ft. Lee.

"If Congress declares war, or if the president calls a national emergency, I'll withdraw my suit, and probably all the rest of the men here would do the same," Looney said.

Other enlisted men in the 173rd don't agree with what their buddies are doing.

Sgt. James M. Slaughter, 30, of Greenwood, said, "They're not recognizing their moral obligations to serve. They're seek-Nixon and Humphrey to a debate."

Wallace said, however, "It would be a safe thing for Mr. Nixon if he did not debate." Wallace said that in a debate he would "expose" the different postures Nixon has assumed on various issues.

Wallace said he hoped to name a vice-presidential candidate "within the next day or so." He also said the American Independent party platform will be announced this week during his swing through Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, New York and New Jersey—states thick with electoral votes which Wallace needs to boost his drive to the White House.

In Cicero, a blue-collar, white community of 60,000 hinged to Chicago's western borders, Wallace drew loud applause when he derided open housing, lawlessness and proponents of submission in Vietnam.

In 1966, National Guardsmen were called to preserve order in Cicero when Negroes marched through the community in support of open-housing legislation.

About 10 scrubbed, well groomed youths were among the spectators as Wallace spoke from a bandstand erected on Cermak Road, the main street. They carried signs which read, "Don't Let Wallace Turn Our Nation into a Police State," and "Love Thy Neighbor." The placards were torn from their hands and ripped by supporters of Wallace.

Several of the anti-Wallace youths wore McCarthy buttons. Wallace touched on various subjects, saying:

—He could not judge whether a bombing halt would be desirable in January after the new president takes office but he said he would be for it if a halt help would peace negotiations.

—He remained firmly against the use of nuclear weapons.

—He is sorry that Negroes be-
